How to use Bottle Cap Color Activity Pages:

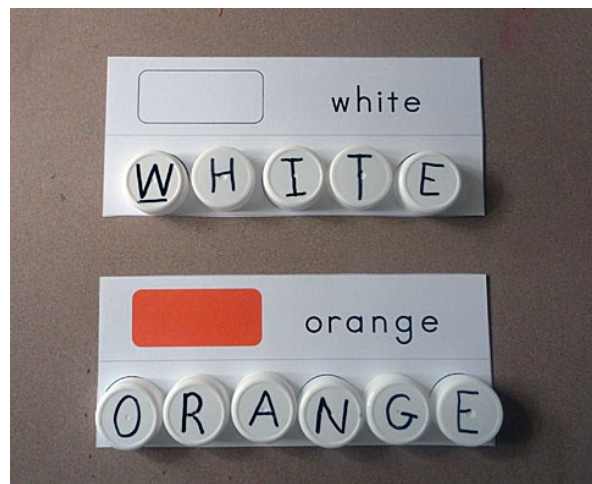

Bottle Cap Activity Pages are quickly becoming a staple during our preschool time each morning.

For many weeks, we saved bottle caps from our milk cartons, as I just knew there was some activity where we could use them! (You can also save the lid from soda or water bottles, as they're all the same size.)

I decided to create a set of 26 letters for my preschoolers to arrange in alphabetical order and "write" their names with them. While using them, I brainstormed a ton of other uses for them, one of those being these color sheets.

To use the Bottle Cap Color Activity Pages, follow these steps:

1. After downloading this printable set, print pages 3-6 on cardstock. Laminate for longer durability.
2. Cut out each color set along the dark black lines. Each rectangle section should now have two portions: the color and color name in the top section and the circles in the bottom section.
3. If you don't have bottle caps, print and laminate page 6. You'll need to print the page twice to have enough letters, since some words have more than 1 of the same letter. Then cut around each circle to create your own bottle caps.
4. Have your child identify the color and then spell it in the circles with the bottle caps.
